ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT

GCEDC Launches New Website

The Greene County Economic Development Corporation is now online at <https://greenecountyedc.com/>. The site is specifically designed to engage site selectors and developers and promote the advantages and benefits of bringing job-creating businesses to our communities. Supporting digital advertising and social media campaigns will direct information seekers to content ranging from available shovel-ready sites, to key economic indicators, to programs and incentives available to businesses starting or expanding in Greene County.

GCEDC Board of Directors Elects Officers

Authorized by the Greene County Legislature, this organizational meeting of the board identified officers, committee assignments and operational protocols to accomplish the mission of the corporation. Mark Maraglio of the National Bank of Coxsackie was named Board Chair, and Stephen E. Nelson of the Bank of Greene County was named Vice-Chair. The mission of the Greene County Economic Development Corporation can be found online at <https://greenecountyedc.com/about/>.

Leveraging the Economic Assets of Greene County

Greene County's Department of Economic Development, Tourism, and Planning has retained Camoin 310 to update the County's economic development strategy. Camoin 310 and county staff are reviewing existing programs and conducting research and analysis to identify emerging opportunities. Findings from this analysis will be used to craft strategic goals and objectives for economic development in Greene County, and guide marketing and communications strategies.
